

Making time for breakfast & finding some green space without putting on your coat & meeting up with colleagues & using the plants as a practice audience & taking a break from colleagues & recharging your phone & recharging your mind & impressing a client with your good taste & actually having that get-together over coffee & taking a deep breath & having an “aha” moment & sampling a new vintage & taking off your heels, no one will judge & nibbling snacks without getting crumbs on your desk & leaving each place better than you found it.

The Durst Organization, guided by our ethos of sustainability, has created Well& by Durst for the many people who come together under our roofs, to work, play, live, and thrive. Our daily surroundings inspire, uplift, and energize us. We feel connected with each other in a healthy environment in which we are able to grow and flourish.

Make Well& by Durst your own.

Located in Millerton, NY, McEnroe Organic Farm is one of New York's oldest certified organic farms, growing organic produce, raising grass-fed animals, and producing compost that nurtures Durst's green roofs. Well& by Durst enjoys a robust relationship with McEnroe Organic Farm, part of The Model Organic Farm Foundation, a nonprofit organization founded by the Durst and McEnroe families.

SUSTAINABILITY

We were green before it was a thing. From the first LEED Platinum skyscraper in the US, to innovative waste management initiatives, environmental responsibility has been the Durst Organization's ethos since its inception.

Strong relationships are what make us exceptional, and we continually seek new ties that further our sustainable values. Through our partnership with McEnroe Organic Farm, just two hours north of here, we grow organic produce, raise grass-fed animals, and promote the benefits of local ingredients.

We even convert the food waste from our buildings into compost that nurtures our green roofs. And these elevated urban habitats provide a home to the colonies of bees in our beehives. So in a way, that meal you didn't finish could contribute to making the delicious and (very) local honey for your tea.
